The ABCs for your IBCs

drumMUSTER does not accept bulk containers for recycling, the program can only accept containers between 1-205L.

However, the good news is the return, reconditioning and recycling of most IBCs is managed by a number of proprietary programs.

How do you return bulk agvet chemical storage containers?

As more resellers turn to using Intermediate Bulk Containers (IBCs) for their customers' agvet chemical needs, many are still unsure about the right way to return IBCs once they've been used.

The return process can be confusing, especially with multiple manufacturers of IBCs with different return policies.

Agsafe has prepared a quick and easy guide that may assist users on how to send IBCs back for recycling or reuse.

Schutz Australia

Schutz Australia has a ticket service where resellers or end-users register their empty Schutz containers for collection and reconditioning.

When an IBC is empty and returned by the grower, stores should contact Schutz to arrange a collection. All return freight is covered by Schutz.

- ✓ Stores must have a minimum of 4 IBCs on hand.
- ✓ Schutz will collect from distributors within 10 working days of collection booking.
- ✓ Empty containers don't require rinsing however some conditions apply. Details of the collection conditions are on the ticket located on the label plate of the IBC or the website (see pic).
- ✓ Schutz has a collection program for some 100-120L drums used by growers - minimum 10 drums.

To request an IBC collection, visit www.schuetz-packaging.net or phone: 03 9360 9291.

VIP Packaging

VIP Packaging will retrieve a minimum of 4 IBCs from premises.

All herbicide, pesticide and fungicide IBCs should be empty (less than 1% or 10L) and free from outside contamination. Details of conditions are attached to VIP containers (see below).

To book a collection, visit www.vippackaging.com.au and download the IBC Collection Request Form, or phone: 03 8676 4949.

Tank Management Services

Tank Management Services (TMS) provide a collection service for IBCs in the Eastern States (NSW, QLD & VIC).

The following conditions apply:

- ✓ Containers must be empty.
- ✓ All collections subject to prior approval from TMS. Visit www.tankmanagement.com.au to view the T&Cs.

To arrange a collection, phone 1800 333 124 or visit the TMS website for more information.
